CDC sets the pace

Mr. Royce Weerasinghe.

Career Development Centre recently celebrated the sixth anniversary of their migration consultancy service at a dinner-dance at the Galle Face Hotel. Lalith De Silva, Chairman of the Asia Hotel School, and Rohan Nanayakkara, Chairman of Ceylon Carriers, were guests of honour.

CDC, located at 425/1 Havelock Road, Colombo 6, has set the pace for migration agents operating in Sri Lanka. Their wide base is made up of clients from various parts of the country.

Over the years, CDC has earned an excellent reputation, thanks to prestigious collaborators such as FRENZ International in New Zealand, Community Development Services Australia, UK-based NARIC, and the International Chamber of Migration in Canada.

Says CDC's Managing Director, Mrs Samanthika Pathirage: "Today, visa requirements go beyond the average tourist or visit visa, especially with the flood of visa applications for jobs, studies and permanent residence."

Applications for all these categories are carefully evaluated and processed by the CDC. The latest service provided by CDC is the introduction of lectures for the IELTS examination which is now regarded as a mandatory qualification for students wishing to study in the United Kingdom.

These lectures are conducted by Royce Weerasinghe. A comprehensive presentation of the services available, and the various procedures, can be gained through a visit to the company's website www.cdclanka.com.

Guests toasting to CDC's birthday.

Thumbs up.
