Career Development Centre climbs new heights

Striding strong since its inception in 1998, Career Development Centre (Pvt) Ltd, (CDC) has made a notable mark in the field of migration consultation. The CDC which slogans its operation method with "CAREFULLY DESIGNED CONCEPT", takes great pride in the growth it now records from modest beginnings.

Amongst its broad record of successes in the field of migration consultation, the CDC has guided countless families to greener pastures in many countries, namely New Zealand, Australia, Canada and the UK.

Its dynamic and enterprising Directress and proprietor Unee Samantha Pathirage has now reframed her company's operational area.

The CDC now focuses its efforts and resources in providing services to migrate to Australia. While this takes centre stage, it is not the only service provided. Accurate, reliable and informative consultation to hopeful migrants is provided by the company's Senior Consultants. With Unee Samantha Pathirage and her years of experience in the field, the staff at CDC can provide reliable assessments and forecasts on an applicant's prospects.

Migration to Australia

An applicant will be required to score 120 points in the relevant tests to be eligible for a General Skilled migration visa which permits settlement anywhere in Australia. The second category of visa, Skilled Independent Regional (Provisional) Visa which allows settlements only in an area specified by the authorities as having a demand for a specified skill/skills possessed by the applicant with 100 points from the test.

CDC observes all rules of immigration and co-ordinates with the Embassies on the different requirements, meaning only applicants qualified are selected for application and processing.

The CDC aims at taking the burdens off their clients as much as possible and makes the necessary arrangements on behalf of the client such as medical tests, police clearance processes, testimonies on English proficiency and such, all of which successful candidates must fulfill to become a success case.

Post migration settlement services

Upon successfully migrating, the process of "Settling in" can be a considerable task. The CDC is glad that it also extends its services beyond the seas and assists its successful immigrants with the "Settling in" process. Schooling for children and accommodation are two chief needs that can be challenging and CDC goes that extra mile to steward their valuable clients through this phase.

New Hopes for possible migrants to Australia

CDC is in the process of introducing the State/Territory Nominated Independent (STNI) visa to Australia which is a permanent residency visa enabling visa holders to live and work in metropolitan and regional cities in Australia as permanent residents. They are currently coordinating with the Australian State Government authorities in order to open up new migration pathways for Sri Lankan applicants to get eligible for the STNI scheme with lower IELTS requirements.

"There are various migration consultancy agents in the country at present who have their own packages and services but the fact remains that only a handful of them actually deliver what they promise. Part of our success is the service of providing each individual a tailor-made solution according to the applicant's requirement" Pathirage explained. The creation of a bold and enterprising lady, CDC is steadily climbing heights with new visions of success clearly in its sights. The objective being qualitative service to clients, and being driven in result orientation. The CDC continues to grow with dedication and genuine service.
