

CDC's Apex IELTS Training Institute and visions ahead

An undisputed leader in the file of migration consultancy the Career Development Centre (CDC) has launched its latest expansion phase to mark its ever growing entrepreneurial wings. Amongst the host of services, classes for IELTS has been part of the outfit from its incept, catering to the needs of the scores of applicants who stream into the CDC premises on a monthly basis.

Apex IELTS Institute -a subsidiary of CDC The growing need for IELTS classes with greater individualized attention to learners' development propelled CDC to devise plans to expand its IELTS facilities into a fully fledged institute named "Apex" capable of catering to a growing clientele utilizing the latest sophisticated methods and combining them with highly experienced instructors including foreign instructors to ensure best results for learners. With careful attention being paid to every aspect of the institute and its operational scope the management at CDC is confident that it will be capable of becoming the number one name for IELTS classes amongst Sri Lankans.

Facilities From A/C class rooms to a comfortable cafeteria the infrastructure plan will prove to be up to all expectations of clients and will become the best value option for the money they spend. With full day course schedules that run from 8.30am -7.30pm the needs for a relaxing space has not been disregarded by the management.

The institute will offer students the best facilities that can compete with any existing IELTS institute as it has a fully up to date library and self help facilities such as audio facilities for listening comprehension. Although many existing institutes provide such facilities few would offer the expertise they possess through individualized tutoring sessions for maximal learner development.

Instructors Experience at being an IELTS instructor counts in a very crucial way and this factor has always been a focal criterion when CDC selects its instructors. Since its incept CDC has always banked on the expertise of the instructors to devise the approaches to class planning, and strategy development.

A highly able group of ten qualified dedicated instructors with years of experience form the cadre of exponential resource persons who guide the learners every step of the way. This staff can be considered very much as some of the best in the field, in whose charge a learner is assured of reaching the desired target. With a host of methodologies from individual tutoring and group sessions to mock tests the learning experience will be optimum no matter if the learner wants to develop English as a general skill or simply to be geared up for IELTS exams.

Packages to suit everyone's needs have been looked into by CDC management.

Focused clientele and packages The types of groups to whom these services are addressed are certainly broad in scope in keeping with the enterprising visions of CDC.

Hopeful migrants are the first target group whose needs of IELTS vary based on the visa categories applied for. With the new policy changes from the Department of Immigration in Australia CDC is well aware of how to best gear up learners to achieve the required target scores.

Applicants who are hoping for student visas will also find their needs addressed to meet the required scores to achieve their dreams of studying abroad. Packages for learners are available as per needs ranging from pre-basic English to general English to top skilled English proficient speakers whose main objective would be simply exam preparations.

The thirty hour fulltime course spans ten days and includes a host of instructional and practical exercises to build the learner to meet the required skill developments.

Admissions The admissions for December have commenced and are currently ongoing with priority being given to present CDC clientele.

With immediate effect classes have commenced for those who are in need to make the visa application process for 2011. For full details on admissions and the services available interested parties may contact Mrs. U.S. Pathirage (CDC Managing Directress) on -0777 846641/2507677.

With the upcoming developments the reaches of CDC in the field of migration consultancy shows that it is a brand name that will progress steadily with timely and well prudently planned initiatives, to further the scope of their entrepreneurial reach while performing many Sri Lankans much needed services the way it has over the years that charts its story of success.
