

Career Development Centre Committed partner in realising migration dreams of a better future in Australia

If your dream is to discover your optimum potential of developing a career that suits your skills and leading a life of higher comforts by migrating to greener pastures, then the Career Development Centre (CDC) is the place where your journey of pursuing your dreams must begin. The leading name in Australian migration consultancy for over a decade, the CDC which is led by its dynamic Managing Directress and Senior Consultant Unee Samanthika Pathirage, assures every client once undertaken is not abandoned half way and left with broken dreams.

The CDC's guiding principle has always been that their highest accolades come from the testimonies of fully satisfied clients who have realised their dreams, and that the company's success always rests on the success they help their clients achieve.

The latest developments in Australian migration opportunities ring out a golden bell to certain professionals. Engineers who possess degrees in Engineering from Moratuwa, Peradeniya, and Ruhuna Universities can now look forward to more easy going migration pathways to Australia to open up for them owing to the Washington Accords to which Sri Lanka will become a full signatory and thereby create direct recognition for our local university Engineering degree holders to be recognised as qualified engineers by Australian authorities.

However there are certain limits to accreditation in this regard. By visiting the CDC you can find out to which graduate batches this direct recognition applies.

Previously an applicant who is an engineer from Sri Lanka had to submit three projects which are part of the knowledge testing process. The Competency Demonstration Report Process (CDR process) can now be bypassed for engineering graduates who belong to certain specified intakes of local universities. However the CDC is not without solutions to assist hopeful migrants who are engineers who are not covered by the direct recognition that applies from the Washington Accord.

Expert advisory and guidance is provided to any applicant who is required to submit reports under the CDR process, and every applicant will be directed step by step as to how satisfactory reports can be prepared to successfully get recognition through the CDR process. The unique expertise of the CDC has ensured a superlative success rate of one hundred percent, since all clients are carefully guided through the CDR process by the Senior Consultant.

Veterinarians are in demand under the present migration policy specifications and veterinary surgeons with degrees who are working in the livestock industry in government organisations will have many avenues opening up for them in Australia. Agricultural professionals with B.Sc degrees in agricultural sciences are also in high demand with opportunities opening in the states of Western Australia, Southern Australia, and Queensland.

Opportunities are growing for the following categories - Mixed Crop Farmers, Aqua Culture, Fruit Growers, Livestock Farmers, Mixed Crop and Livestock Farmers. For more details on the various fields and migration opportunities opening up, it is best to not waste time and consult the CDC as soon as possible. After all an opportunity not grabbed at the right moment is an opportunity never to be regained.

Some hopeful migrants find themselves being burdened with much additional costs to have their broken dreams mended after rejection of their applications due to faulty guidance and instructions. It is therefore always best to get advice from proven experts and be sure that the path to your dreams is not trifled with by exploiters. If you feel you are eligible in the above categories, the CDC can provide expert advice on how best to proceed with the application process from the first step itself.

Another significant announcement by the CDC is the services related to IELTS classes. The company has chosen four instructors, and can confidently direct applicants for seven in each band requiring proficient English, while instructors are also available for applicants requiring competent English in the six bands. For a comprehensive detailed overview of how exactly this hurdle of the IELTS requirement can be overcome, visit the CDC where all details will be provided to answer all questions and clear all doubts.

Sadly for most hopeful migrants this particular matter of IELTS becomes the crippling factor that leaves their hopes and dreams shattered. And at most times as it has come to be known to the CDC, many are led astray due to faulty advice and erroneous instructions. The wisest way to begin is by seeking the guidance of the best in the field.

At the CDC an applicant is assured of expert advice given on the basis of realistic assessments that are upfront and straightforward and not meant to lead people astray with the hope of getting some 'temporary business'. Often, hopeful migrants get netted in 'advice' that sounds extremely positive but is actually practically unsound and offers only some temporary momentum.

However at the CDC what the management always stresses on is that all deadlines must be met to successfully lodge perfected applications which of course require the applicant to be committed to follow the instructions, advice and guidance of the Senior Consultant. At the CDC what is developed is a methodical, scheduled work plan according to which the systematic progress of the application is realised to ensure maximum efficiency free of blunders to reach the target.

Continuous improvement is one of the hallmark features of the CDC. Efficiency of service has been upgraded to better serve clients with regard to their schedules and engagements. And all stages of the process for application lodgement are done with assurances of complete transparency. Reliable and friendly service awaits every client who steps through the doors of the CDC with the hope of embarking on a journey to realise their dreams of migrating to Australia.

With untiring effort dedicated to the cause of the client at every turn, the CDC strives to ensure that every applicant who places their future dreams in the hands of the CDC are not let down and will see that their goals are reached.

Mrs. U.S. Pathirage, Senior Consultant, DIAC Off Shore, Agent ID No: 3001304

When time is of the essence, and mere minutes can determine if the deadline for application lodgement is met or not and the goal of reaching greener pastures may or may not be realised, the CDC is prepared to tirelessly commit their time to ensure that the trust placed in them by the clients is not broken and that no dreams will be allowed to get shattered.

That is the level of commitment and dedication the company provides to 'go the distance' that assures their valued clients complete the journey of reaching their dream.

At CDC the spirit of the company's vision has been to become the friend who assures all assistance and guidance is provided sincerely and efficiently to make dreams of reaching greener pastures come true.

The many testimonies from fully satisfied clients whose lives are blossoming in Australia, that adorn the walls in the form of cards and letters carrying their words of thanks with pictures of their new found joyful lives, speak of how the CDC has been a partner in making dreams come true to many Sri Lankans.

Year 2015