

...thanks CDC team and applicants for whole hearted commitment

Mrs. U.S. Pathirage
Senior Consultant, DIAC Off Shore

number of CDC applicants received their visa invitations to migrate to South Australia where they have begun their new lives. The CDC takes this opportunity to express its wholehearted and sincere thanks for the diligence and commitment shown by their clients who dutifully carried out every instruction to the very letter as per the advocacy of the Senior Consultant and Managing Directress Mr. U. S. Pathirage, and performed the needful from their side as dedicated applicants.

The CDC acknowledges the dedication in their applicants and as the 4th of July deadline for South Australian migration selection process is completed, and this year was met with resounding success overcoming all challenges the MD gives a big thanks to the team that put in a huge effort along with her clients who proved their dedication to reach their goal. The team spirit between the applicants and the committed staff of the CDC that wove together as the deadline drew nearer is a major factor that both the CDC and its successful Australian migrants can look back upon with joy and total satisfaction.

As the next programme year for 2016/2017 dawns, the CDC is once again at its peak, prepared well ahead for the challenges that loom as deadlines draw closer and hopeful applicants grow anxious in fulfilling their dreams. The Occupational Ceilings for the financial year of 2016/2017 have been announced and the strategy mapped out for the upcoming programme of the year places significant focus on Skilled Independent Subclass 189 and Family Sponsored Skilled Regional Provisional Subclass 489 visas.

The professionals eligible for visa invitations will open under different quotas, are -Accountants and Auditors, IT Professionals which encompasses Computer Network Professionals, Software and Application Programmes, ICT Business and Systems Analysts. Also Engineers of categories such as engineering managers, Civil Engineering Professionals, Electrical Engineers, Electronics Engineers, Industrial, Mechanical and Production Engineers, Mining Engineers, Telecommunications Engineering Professionals, and Medical practitioners. Further the opportunities have also increased for Air-conditioning and Refrigeration Mechanics, Legal practitioners, Psychologists, Physiotherapists, Registered Nurses, Medical Laboratory Scientists, and Chefs. There are several options available for a hopeful migrant to Australia and what best suits the applicant given his or her profile strength must be carefully evaluated before commencing the application process. Many hopeful migrants find their dreams shattered simply by applying under visa categories that do not optimally suit their qualifications.

A visit to the CDC and a detailed discussion with the Senior Consultant will ensure all doubts are clarified and the most suitable path is shown without any hidden agendas. Often applicants find migration consultancy agencies drop them half way through the process on pretexts that leave the applicant stranded after having spent a considerable amount of money. Transparency has been crucial in building trust between the CDC and their clients and hopeful applicants can rely on the CDC's management to tell them if the applicant has any chance of making a successful application and if not what must be done to improve his or her chances to get through.

The CDC saw a successful year focusing Regional Demand List for South Australia and now looks towards the category of Regional Demand List for the Australian Capital Territory (Canberra), New South Wales - Regional plans, the State Migration Plan for Northern Territory and Queensland. With big hopes of seeing many an applicant gets through in these categories, the CDC is on top of the latest updates in this regard and will convey it to their clientele over the next few months.

The CDC has experienced staff to deal with the latest selection strategies. If you are a hopeful migrant who belongs to any one or more of the above categories the best visa category and the best pathway can be demonstrated by the CDC. One of the suggestions the CDC makes is that they motivate many applicants to consider Visa Subclass 489 since competition will only increase with time.

The IELTS has often been an obstacle in migration to Australia, hence the CDC has used its expertise in IELTS tutoring facilities which for some applicants is the decisive factor. The efficient IELTS services channelled for CDC applicants is always focused to help the student reach the required score as per his or her category. The categories which had 6 in each band will probably reach a critical situation if the students do not endeavour to reach 7 in each bands as per the estimations of the CDC with regard to how the coming year will indicate increased competitiveness. To ensure the best of service the instructors to whom applicants are directed by the CDC are now at their task day and night since the numbers are increasing.

South Australia is now a popular destination

among hopeful Sri Lankan migrants. However having preconceived notions and not taking the best available chance is not the most advisable for hopeful applicants, as can be stated through the many years of experience CDC has in providing the pathways for dreams to be realised. The CDC's untiring efforts are focused on crossing the hurdle of reaching greener pastures as a legitimate Australian visa holder. Towards the end the diligent applicant must always carefully follow the advice given from the Senior Consultant who always has the applicant's best interest at heart.

The strength of the CDC's reputation as a migration consultancy agency where unreserved dedication towards the clients and assured transparency and integrity are hallmark features, has helped spread word about the value of the service given to each and every applicant that has been taken on.

False promises are not what one will find at CDC. Professionalism, courteousness and transparency are qualities that the CDC prides in and upholds without compromise. And to keep in line with its mark for success, the company will enhance its services to meet the challenges for the upcoming programme of 2016/2017 to ensure that every client who places their dreams of migrating to Australia is not let down.

The many accolades that speak volumes of CDC's accomplishments in the field of migration consultancy can be displayed in their office. Those accolades are none other than the photos of smiling faces that have successfully reached their desired pastures and expressed their thanks with letters and cards to the CDC, the company that ensured their dreams come true.
