

Career Development Centre brings new pathways

Career Development Centre (CDC), with over a decade in migration consultancy services, is all about ensuring that your dreams of moving to greener pastures come true. The latest developments in the migration policies of Australia has given the CDC the chance to open a new line of services that will surely be a highly successful steppingstone for many.

The chance of a lifetime

There are many Sri Lankans who feel that they cannot advance in their careers due to a lack of paper qualifications, despite years of experience through dedicated hard work and superior level of craftsmanship in their trades and professions. CDC is proud to announce that a new line of service will open up opportunities for those engaged in trades and professions that do not always gain paper qualifications from established institutions.

A golden pathway even without professional qualifications

If your work experience has honed your skills to a calibre that it can be certified by an authority whose certification is nationally recognised in Australia, then your next step should be to make an appointment with the CDC.

Learn how those who are in fields such as hairdressing, childcare, office management, security management, transportation service managers, bakers, cooks, and many others who can, under the RPL (Recognition of Prior Learning) process, be certified through a licensed RTO (Registered

Mrs. U.S. Pathirage, Senior Consultant

Training Organisation) which the Australian government will recognise as a paper qualification that is valid for employment and career advancement.

CDC's plan for applicants without paper qualifications

Depending on the level of skills and work experience of an applicant he/she may be certified with a Diploma or an Advanced Diploma and attain an Australian qualification in their trade/profession.

With careful guidance and diligent assessment applicants can get a 100% guarantee that those who gain RPL through an RTO will obtain an Australian qualification fully recognised by the government of Australia. The first step is just a matter of making an appointment to get the necessary in-depth details and get informed about the way forward.

An alert on the South Australia list

The 2016-2017 Migration Plan for South Australia is highly competitive and time is running out fast. In order to ensure applications are duly perfected and lodged well ahead of the deadline, hopeful applicants will have to act fast and it is always advisable to seek reliable experienced professional guidance. The Queensland demand list for 2016-2017 will only have about 100 places. In-depth information and the relevant particulars can be found out through the CDC which advises any potential applicants to not delay in this regard.

Special call for 'Nurses and Medical Technicians'

There is a great demand for Ophthalmic Technicians and many other medical technicians when it comes to Australian migration. This category includes nurses and assistants who work in eye care clinics/hospitals assisting ophthalmologist (Eye Surgeons/ Eye Care Doctors). Delays can cause disappointments and therefore it is best to begin exploring opportunities.

Medical Technicians in Demand

The list for medical technicians is as follows -Audiometrist (ear and hearing testing related field), Dialysis Technicians, Electroencephalographic Technicians (ECG technician), Mortuary

Technicians, Neuro-Physiological Technicians (EEG Technicians who operate brain scanning equipment), Respiratory technicians, Orthotic and Prosthetic technicians, Cardiovascular Perfusionist, (those who operate the heart-lung machine during heart surgery), Renal technicians and Sleep technicians (treatment related to patients with sleep disorders). The scope for applicants working as technicians in these areas is high and has good potential to successfully migrate to Australia under its present demand lists.

Following are the present scores required for the different occupations in this category.

Minimum points for Accountants is at 70, Auditors, Company Secretaries and Corporate Treasurers also require 70 points minimum while a minimum score of 65 points is required for the following occupations -ICT Business and System Analysts, Software and Applications Programmers, Computer Network Professionals, Electronic Engineers, Industrial, Mechanical and Production Engineers as well as other engineering professionals. As for the family sponsored visa the required score remains at 60.

The present status in general

IT and Engineering professionals are now in a better position that previously with the minimum score being at 65 points. The Skill Select scheme is also back on a more predictable track which bodes well for hopeful migrants.

The CDC prides in its reputation of over a decade in Australian migration consultancy service which has been due to its unwavering core principles of integrity, transparency and forthrightness. There will be absolutely no hidden chargers, no halfway promises, or false hopes to snare clients and let them down later after payments have been made. The CDC values its clients' dreams as much as their clients do and believes that the means to successfully continue the journey enjoyed thus far is by ensuring the CDC team remains committed to providing high quality and friendly service which aims to help those who have placed their trust in the CDC to reach their dreams of a better life.

“ Minimum points for Accountants is at 70, Auditors, Company Secretaries and Corporate Treasurers also require 70 points minimum while a minimum score of 65 points is required for the following occupations -ICT Business and System Analysts, Software and Applications Programmers, Computer Network Professionals, Electronic Engineers, Industrial, Mechanical and Production Engineers as well as other engineering professionals. As for the family sponsored visa the required score remains at 60. ”

Year 2017